Introduction Summary

At JHA we are a 100% employee-owned business, priding ourselves on not only providing a core offering of the regular building services disciplines, but also a full spectrum of dedicated specialists in more niche disciplines such as specialist lighting, acoustics, vertical transport, sustainability, audio visual, information and communications technology, renewable energy and security. Our service ethos is to put delivery first at all times, and our staff carry a highly technical flair coupled with a detailed practical understanding of constructability aspects. As a result, we are often the consultant of choice during the construction phase of projects due to our reputation for delivering solid outcomes when they really matter.

Sector Knowledge

JHA have worked across a multitude of projects and are able to provide early advice on site location, selection and consideration for the building elements to ensure the services requirements are captured to ensure the building works operate as expected and assist in identifying early operational capital expenditure and ongoing maintenance costs.
